ACCOMMODATIONS

Being away from home can be difficult, but it doesn't mean you can't feel at home. We've worked hard to make our facility inviting and comfortable for all of our residents.

DISCHARGE PLANNING

Prior to a resident's discharge from our facility, our rehabilitative professionals make sure they're ready for the challenges involved with returning home or to an alternate level of care. In addition to outlining personalized exercise plans and guidelines for safely performing daily routines, our therapists will make sure each patient can manage stairs and other obstacles related to returning home. Our social workers may arrange for wheelchair assistance or other assistive devices, and our staff will go over dietary issues that could impact a full recovery. Our nurses will provide information on wound care and medication management. All this will ensure that once they leave our facility, residents will be adequately prepared to resume optimal functionality and independence.

Because we understand that it's never easy to put the care of a loved one into the hands of others, we are always available to address family concerns. We are committed to transparency: we will always strive to provide an honest and realistic assessment of what new patients and residents and their families can expect every step of the way.
